NUMBER TWENTY-EIGHT

Brother Of Neal Ward Dies In Mississippi

Henry L. Ward, age 39, brother of Neal Ward, livestock dealer here, died Friday in a Port Arthur Hospital after an injury sustained in an accidental fall. Funeral services were held in Brookhaven, Miss., Rev. James L. Sullivan, pastor of the First Baptist church there. Interment followed in the Rosehill cemetery.

Mr. Ward was a native of Weak county, Tenn., but moved to Mississippi about 25 years ago. He was an employee of an oil company of Port Arthur, Texas.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pearl Terry Ward; two young sons, Lindolf and Hugh H. Ward, Port Arthur; his mother, Mrs. W. C. Ward, Brookhaven; a brother, Neal Ward, and sister, Mrs. Frank Sammons of Fulton; four sisters, Mrs. W. R. Priester, Mrs. L. P. Schwen, Jr., and Mrs. L. G. Hutson of Brookhaven, Miss., and Mrs. Lutie Bufkin of Mobile, Ala., a brother, Charlie Ward of Brookhaven.

FARM INSTITUTE DREW LARGE CROWD FARMERS

Governor Cooper and Dr. J. D. Hoskins, president of the University of Tennessee, were among the Tennessee leaders who addressed the annual session of the Farmers Institute at Jackson Wednesday. Approximately 1000 farmers attended the all day session at the West Tennessee Experiment Station.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Robert Fry and daughter, Carroll returned to their home in Paducah after spending several days here. Mrs. J. A. Hemphill, sister of Mrs. Fry returned with them to spend several days.

Murderer Arrested In Fulton Saturday

James Finley, colored youth, alias Country James, was arrested in Missionary Bottom here Saturday by local police, on a charge of manslaughter. The negro waived extradition papers, and was returned to Chicago for trial.

He is alleged to have fatally stabbed John Rivers, colored, age 16, during an altercation in Chicago. The victim died of a knife wound in the chest the same day. James Finley formerly lived here with his parents, who now reside in Chicago. The incident happened April 10, and his presence in Fulton is believed to have been revealed by Carella Capps of this city.

Ice Shortage Hits Fulton Seriously

The ice shortage which has recently hit the Fulton community is not just a local condition, according to R. H. Wade, proprietor of the First Baptist Church met here, that the shortage prevails throughout the South and as far north as Chicago. The Fulton plant is doing everything possible to see that everybody gets some ice, and people are urged to cooperate by making their ice last as long as possible.

Mr. Wade has been endeavoring to get the other plant open on Walnut-st., but repairs have been delayed because of materials and labor.

MR. AND MRS. WADE HAVE FIVE STARS ON THEIR SERVICE FLAG

This week we are proud to announce a new record for The News service honor roll. Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wade have four stars on their service flag, denoting that they have five boys in the Service of Uncle Sam.

Fred is in England, Harlan in India; R. B. in the Aleutians; Harold in Hawaii; one other son Howard, who was medically discharged after ten months in service.

Come on, folks! All of you who have boys in service send their names, branch of service and location into the Service Editor. This paper is always looking forward to news about our boys who are in the service of their country. Good letters are often published, and are of interest to our readers and your friends.

PARATROOPER MANN IS ALIVE AND WELL

Paratrooper J. C. Mann, whom was reported missing in action in a recent issue of The News, is well and safe, according to a letter received by relatives. The War Department released a report that he was missing in action since June 6. He is with the 101st Airborne Division and has been behind the enemy lines. He is now with his company, probably near Carleton.

"We boys have attended church in the rain, we have said more prayers than most people could think possible. God has been with me and has taken care of me," young Mann said.

CREAM HAULERS ENJOY PICNIC AT COLUMBUS

Drivers of the Pet Milk routes in this territory enjoyed their annual picnic and fish fry at the Columbus Belmont Park Monday night, where about 200 gathered for the event. Paul Wright, N. W. Burnette, Dewey Johnson and others from this vicinity were present.

MEN IN SERVICE

Private 1st Class Wayne Hampton Carr, located in the quartermaster corps, is some where in France.

Local Aviation Is Making Progress

With the tremendous progress made in aeronautics the past few years, local aviation is suddenly assuming new and vast proportions. Keeping up with the trend of the times is Martin, Tenn., where a mammoth War Bond rally and air show will be staged next Sunday by Gill-Dove Airways.

Plane races, with entries from all over the Mid-South are scheduled on the all-day program, which also will feature exhibition flying, stunting, spot landings and performances from many of the South's top notch aviators.

Governor Cooper, Percy McDonald, representing the Tennessee Bureau of aeronautics, Col. Roscoe Turner, and many others will appear on the program.

DEATHS

CARL FREEMAN

Carl Freeman, age 52, well known barber of this community, and for a number of years an employee of the Arcade Shop, died Friday afternoon, at his home on Sixth-st., as a result of a sudden heart attack. The attack first came at the shop while at work, and the second occurred at his home which was fatal.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon by Rev. W. E. Mischke, pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment followed at the Rock Spring cemetery. The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Thelma Elliott Freeman; one brother, Vester Freeman of this city; 3 sisters, Mrs. C. A. Wright of Fulton, Mrs. Walter Kimbro of Crutcheville, and Mrs. Albert Lawson of Caruthersville, Mo.

Mr. Freeman was a member of the Crutcheville Methodist church, and had made many friends in Fulton. He and Mrs. Freeman came to this city some 18 years ago from Crutcheville.

LON PALMER

Lon Palmer, of near Fulton, died at the St. Joseph hospital in Nashville, Tuesday. The body was brought back to Fulton Wednesday to lie in state at the Hornbeak Chapel until funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon. Interment followed at Boaz Chapel cemetery in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Home.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Marshall Cole of Louisville, Mrs. Clyde Baker of Memphis, and Miss Beulah Palmer of Fulton; one son, Smith Palmer of Nashville; two sisters, Mrs. Ann Linton and Mrs. Joe Gates of Fulton; two brothers, Walter and Eugene Palmer of near Fulton.

MRS. S. E. BARGER

Mrs. S. E. Barger, age 83, died at her home near Gardner, Tenn., Friday morning. Funeral services were held at the home Saturday afternoon by Rev. W. A. Butler and Rev. T. A. Duncan. Interment followed in the Gardner cemetery, in charge of W. W. Jones.

Mrs. Barger was a native of Graves County, Ky., and was born Feb. 2, 1851. She married Gleason Barger, and to this union ten children were born. She was a devoted member of the Cypress Creek Baptist church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. L. E. Lacewell and Mrs. Tea Jeffers, both of Martin; three sons, Joe and Duch Barger, of Martin, and John Barger of Greenway, Ark. nine grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Infant Dies Of Infantile Paralysis

Little Miss Joyce Stewart, infant of Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Stewart, north of the Fulton fair grounds, died Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the residence of infantile paralysis. Funeral services were held at Wesley cemetery near Fulton Wednesday, with interment following in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Home.

This is the first case of infantile paralysis reported in Fulton county, since the State Board of Health warned about the prevalence of this disease in the state.

Survivors are the parents; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart of Fulton; and one small brother, Jerry.

Walnut Grove Church Dedicates Service Flag

The Service Flag of Walnut Grove Church, South Fulton Circuit, was dedicated Sunday night, July 23, with an honor roll of 40 names of boys and girls, who have gone out from the community into the service of our country. There were 40 white candles around the altar, and as each name was called some member of the family gave a history of the boys training and service, and a candle was lighted in his honor. When all the candles were burned the church lights were turned out, and only the candles glowed while a quartette softly sang "Tenting Tonight."

The following program was given: Song—"Onward Christian Soldiers."

Scripture reading and prayer—Rev. T. L. Peerey.

Quartette—"A Prayer for Peace."

Sermon and Dedication of Flag—Rev. T. L. Peerey.

Quartette—"Lead Kindly Light."

Talk and Roll Call—Mrs. Robert Lamb.

Lighting of Candles—Miss Rebecca Kimble.

Quartette—"Tenting Tonight."

Benediction Prayer—Mr. Robert Lamb.

COOPER SEES REVISION ON FREIGHT RATES

Governor Cooper of Tennessee made two predictions Saturday—first that the South will be given equality in freight rates by an Interstate Commerce decision before November 1, and second, that Tennessee Democrats will support the party nominees in the General election.

PVT. OLLIE CRIDER WOUNDED IN FRANCE

Pvt. Ollie R. Crider, 21, of Fulton, was wounded by shell fire during the invasion of Normandy, and is now in a general hospital in England. Crider, a member of the airborne troops, was wounded in both legs. His left leg was amputated below the knee.

Pvt. Crider's outfit came in on the enemy in a glider. Although the glider smashed when it landed, none of the occupants were injured. After seeing considerable action, and driving the Germans back, the Fulton boy was struck by shell fire. He is the son of Virgil Crider, now of Mayfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bushart and Mrs. S. E. Bushart of Baton Rouge, La., have returned after visiting relatives and friends in Fulton and Hickman.

Fulton Boy Wounded In Battle Of Italy

Private First Class Maurice L. Hammett, son of Mrs. Irene Hammett, was seriously wounded in action on July 2 during a battle in Italy. He is now in a general hospital and the following letter from him speaks for itself:

"Just a few lines to let you know that I am coming along fine, after getting slightly wounded, July 2. Sorry that I haven't written sooner, but my hand is still slightly stiff, but will be okay in a short while."

"I am in a general hospital and getting very good care and treatment. The food is good and plentiful. Have a nice soft bed with mattress and sheets. Tell all the folks hello, and that I'll be writing them soon. Not much else to say at this time, so will close with lots of love. Your son, Maurice."

W. O. Parr Talks At Hickman-Cayce

Will Speak In Fulton Saturday Afternoon At 5 O'clock From Band Stand On Lake Street

W. O. Parr, of Paducah, candidate from the First District, spoke twice last week in Fulton county, and is scheduled to speak in Fulton this Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Dr. Parr is conducting a whirlwind campaign, and endeavoring to contact as many voters as possible before election day.

W. O. PARR

In his talks at Cayce and Hickman, Dr. Parr said:

"More than 150 years ago there came to this country a few people, searching for a place where they could be free, to worship God, educate their children, have free elections, free to carry on. Many battles have been fought, and much blood shed to keep that right, all of which has been caused by those who would destroy the right and privileges of the people. Today our sons are scattered to the four parts of the earth fighting, bleeding and dying. They will die in vain unless the Common People here at home unite to free these countries of would be dictators."

"True democracy will flourish under the direction of free people. It will stagnate and die under the dictates and coercion of political machines, or a powerful few."

"Today the flower of American manhood is facing the machine of war, to save free government. We on the home front must face with equal courage the dangerous political machines, which threaten our free government."

"When my son went into the armed service of our country to fight and maybe die, I made up my mind that I would enlist against the would be dictators, and those who would destroy our democracies at home."

"On March 6, when I announced the odds were against me, but today they are in my favor. I don't have just one man to manage my campaign, who will expect to be boss in the county. The people are going to be my boss."

"The qualifications of a Congressman are:

1. Know the people, and be sympathetic.
 2. Vision of their needs.
 3. Courage.
 4. Convictions, and a faith in God.
 6. Be able to stand on his feet

MEDICINE LOOKS AHEAD

The high type of hinking that dominates the ranks of the medical profession is glowingly illustrated in the remarks of Dr. Thompson Coberth, President of the Oregon State Medical Society, inaugurating the new publication, The Oregon Physician. He warned that "public discussion of medical practice has risen to torrential force."

"Woven through every editorial, lay or medical, every statement by congressmen, every newspaper account, every letter home from a doctor in service, is the question as to whether or not there is to be socialization of medicine. It is limited to no one area, or class, or interested group; it is talked of everywhere, by everyone."

"This puts behind us forever the time when we can even think about how pleasant it might be to keep things as they were. There are going to be tremendous changes. And if we as physicians have love for the greatness of our profession and pride in its dignity, we shall take the leadership in those changes."

"It is easy to forget that the public knows nothing of us except as it encounters us in illness. It never sees the years of grinding research, the fatigue of conscientious physicians, the struggles of medical societies with economic problems. It knows only that we can now provide technical aids beyond the quick command of the modest purse. It is conscious only that it needs a way to participate in all these benefits and a way to spread the cost over time and population."

Oregon Physicians' Service, initially financed by the Oregon State Medical Association, is working to expand prepaid medical and hospital programs. It is setting a practical example of how to extend the benefits of medical service.

NO RATIONING OF FREEDOM

By RUTH TAYLOR

There are so many definitions for freedom. It is what you call an alluring word—because it means all things to all people.

Ask the small boy on a spring day and he'll answer you promptly, "No school and the fish biting." Ask the speculator, he'll say, "No restrictions—and a quick market." Ask the dictator and he'll say, "A fat neighbor whom I'll not struggle against my divine right to take what I want."

Ask the pioneer and he will say, "Uncultured horizons and a chance to make my own way." Ask the idealist and he will say, "A new world where all may have of the bounties of earth." Ask the religious man and he will say, "A life in which I may worship my God according to my own conscience and obey His holy laws."

Why are there so many definitions? Because freedom is not a static thing. It is not a rule but a way of life. It is an obligation. It is determined by our relationship to other people. Only the hermit can be free alone. Freedom in a civilized community is the way of life that demands intelligent followers.

Freedom does not include the right to carry poison, to talk against our neighbors, to judge him by his ancestors or his kindred. Only by his companions, may we ever condemn him. Freedom carries with it a belief in the dignity and sacredness of every human being. "For all—Jew and Gentile, White and Negro, rich and poor—there should be unrationed brotherhood," is the slogan of one free community. Freedom must demonstrate to the world that a diversity of culture strengthens our nation, feeding with fresh water the springs of national life.

Freedom is justice and we must remember that in a court of justice a man is honest until proven otherwise. Judgment is not passed on what others have done. Judge not thy neighbor by others. There are good and bad in every creed and more good than bad.

One man's freedom is another man's freedom—whether it be in America, in China, in Norway or in darkest Africa. No man is really free unless all men are free. No man's home is safe unless all men's homes are safe. What is freedom to you? Think it over carefully and then apply it to your fellow men, to your brother. It must fit you both, or it is not freedom.

EDITORIAL OBSERVATION
Takes Assembly To Task

Writing in The Paducah Sun-Democrat under the title "Ramblings," Mary Ben Campbell, pinch-hitting for Henry Ward, defeated candidate for lieutenant governor in last year's Democratic primary, has the following editorial comment on the recent special session of the General Assembly:

"If there ever was a General Assembly in Kentucky that needed to be spanked instead of thanked by the people of the state, that one that just concluded the special session of 1941 is it. What they did to $110,000 of the taxpayers' money for a session that was largely made up of recesses, should have been done and could have been done at the regular session."

An editorial in the Courier-Journal's issue of June 18, under the caption, "Government In Spite of The Governor," denounces Governor Willis and thanks the Democratic legislators who were holdovers from the previous administration.

The editorial states that "The Democrats were in the majority and possessed the responsibility of leadership. In the senate, their strong entrenchment and their unusual unity would have made it possible for them to fight it out on any line they chose, even if it should take all summer."

Surely they were in the majority and surely they were strongly entrenched and they spent the regular session emphasizing just that.

The governor and the lieutenant governor were elected by a majority of the state. The first act of the General Assembly was to reduce the lieutenant governor to ranks, by electing another to the job customarily held by the lieutenant governor.

The next step was to tie up the surplus in the state treasury to prevent the governor from keeping his promise to the schools of the state.

That surplus did not belong to Democrats or to Republicans. It was a surplus paid into the treasury by the people to be used for the state expected it to be used by the governor they had elected to office.

It was the Democratic majority held over from the old state machine, that thwarted the will of the people at the regular session of the General Assembly, until they were good and ready to do as they pleased, and they weren't pleased to do it until they had pocketed $110,000 of taxpayers' money.

At the low rate paid monthly to the aged and needy people of Kentucky, that sum would have provided for at least 1,000 more than are now on the rolls. Let the old people who would have rejoiced at the mere pittance of $10 per month, that that many of them have applied for, and failed to receive, give consideration to what has happened.—(Exchange.)

SAFETYGRAMS

Always, Mr. Motorist, pay attention to emergency warning signals. Do you know what they are? If you do, do you heed them?

The red flare or pot torch, set in the road warns you that a driver is in trouble. It is a caution to you to reduce your speed and drive carefully as you pass him. Construction workers also use these flares or torches to warn of road repairs and road crews who need protection.

Another emergency warning signal is the siren. Whenever you hear a siren, drive your car to the curb or to the shoulder of the road immediately, so that you will not block the roadway.

Many times I have seen drivers ignore the warning of the siren on a fire truck, ambulance, or police car. They seemed more interested in "racing" the emergency vehicle to the scene of the fire or accident, instead of allowing it free passage.

Observe these warning signals. Protect your own life as well as the lives of others.

No excellent soul is exempt from a mixture of madness.—Aristotle.

As I See It

CAPT. TOM L. GIBSON
Friars Point, Miss.

In a recent number of COLLIERS there is an article by Alben W. Barkley in which the Kentucky Senator explains why he supported Roosevelt for a fourth term. I read and re-read that article with great interest, for if I am wrong in my opinion of Mr. Roosevelt I wish to be set right and if there are good reasons why I should support him for a fourth term I would like to know them. I believed Senator Barkley was a man of great ability and wide experience and hoped that he would set me right if I happened to be in the wrong.

Unfortunately he only told of cut and dried matters that we have been hearing day in and day out. The Senator opens his brief by saying he does not expect to change the minds of "Roosevelt haters." His term, "haters," as he uses it, is synonymous with the New Deal. Hate! Hatred seems to be the basis of the New Deal to many people. Races have learned to hate each other under the Roosevelt Administration. Employees have been taught to hate their employers and those who find they have been made the target of sneering talk by Mr. Roosevelt and those who find their business is controlled by the Government and Labor Unions have learned to hate our Commander-in-Chief. It is a bad situation and the Senator used the term well.

The Senator says, "God seems to find a way to appoint a successor." This is the exact point to which I object, that Mr. Roosevelt is appointed by the Lord, rules by divine right, can ignore Congress, bend the Supreme Court to his will and must be held in office until it pleases the Lord to call him home and appoint another to his place.

When Senator Barkley says that God seems to have found a way to guide the Nation by keeping Roosevelt in office he is merely repeating the old Roman saying, "The Gods have ruled well when they have given us Nero." This method of playing on the emotions is well known propaganda.

He urges the point that Roosevelt does not want to run again, but feels it his duty. This is entitled to consideration. Roosevelt is a crippled old man and is in very poor health. Perhaps he knows that his ability is on a terrible down-grade, but he is surrounded by a group of men and women, who, for the greater part, were nothing in either the political or the business world until the New Deal raised them to the office and who know that if Roosevelt is not re-elected they will sink back to oblivion whence they came.

They will try to force Roosevelt to run, no matter how ill and senile he is. They would use him as an emblem to carry out their communistic desires, and their hope to keep in control of the business of the nation.

In urging that the President is better fitted to guide the course of world affairs than anyone else, because he has been in the middle of it all, the Senator sounds plausible, but he is not as near the truth as he would have us believe. As to matters on the war front, General Marshall knows everything that is needed to carry on. You may be sure of that. We have a giant in him.

It is not the war front that we are worrying about. We have the master mind of Stalin to look after one front, and the master mind of Churchill to look after another. It is the HOME FRONT that has us in a ditch. We feel that we have an improvident government, run by improvident hirelings, run by improvident folks and that unemployment, bankruptcy and revolution will certainly follow.

The able Senator from Kentucky says we would not repeal certain things Roosevelt has supported, and cites the Wagner Act, which authorizes labor to absolutely run private business and decide who is to be hired or fired, how much money will be paid labor, and, in general, make mob-rule legal, and, in the meantime refuse to permit a man to work until he has paid certain dues to labor racketeers.

To say, as Senator Barkley does, that God has been moderator on this occasion is blasphemy of the blackest type and calls for a direct answer. Any man who, by the sweat of his brow, the risking of his money, by long hours of labor and a world of sacrifice and worry has developed a business that is worth while would repeal that law, in a second if he could. There are many laborers, too, who would rather have for a direct boss a man who made the business than a racketeer in the labor world.

What will be the end of this Wagner Act? Who will start new business when he knows he can not control it? No one that I know about. No, it is not the war front that is in danger. It is the home front.

After this war we will probably have to fight a supplementary war to regain our freedom, lost while we were fighting for the freedom of the world in foreign wars.

As President of the Mississippi State Taxpayers' Association I find the reason a lot of Democrats do not want to support Roosevelt is that he does not represent Democracy. His able advisor, Francis Biddle, says, "The people might as well understand that this is a labor administration," so why should they support it?

They feel that Mr. Roosevelt's advisors, in many instances, are anti-Anglo-Saxon, and exceedingly communistic. They do not like for a president a man who can be over-awed by faction leader like John L. Lewis, who gave the President half a million dollars for campaign purposes. They do not like the Roosevelt belief that you can pull the idle, and the ne'er do well up by pulling the worker and developer down.

They do not like the idea of a President choosing for his Vice-president a man like Wallace, who says there should be no private ownership of property, but simply a tenure of it so long as the occupant carries out the planning system of Washington, along with his many other communistic ideas.

Southern Democrats feel that they should have, as the President's advisors, Democrats like those who kept the party alive for 70 years and not such upstarts as Debinsky, Paikin, (alias Sidney Hillman) Frankfurter, Marcantonio, Niles, Roseman, Murray, Aubrey Williams, Harry Hopkins, Tugwell and their ilk. Nor do they feel that Hague, Kelly and Flynn, the type who are secondary should be on the inside circle when there are prominent, able and honorable old line statesmen who could handle the situation.

They are for a type of men such as Cordell Hull, Barney Baruch, and Senator Byrd, who represent the Democracy we have loved and striven for these many years. Don't think we are in a haze about who we want for leaders. We have many competent Democrats who could meet our requirements. But we don't want any New Dealers. There is much difference between a New Dealer and a Democrat, and we know the quislings for the New Deal, and will not support them.

We in the South, feel that the present administration, by the corrupt misrule of the wealth of the people, has engineered control of the national elections, and by patronage, subsidies, federal jobs and doles has debauched the voters of the Nation.

We feel that through taxation and through New Deal labor laws the Administration expects to do just what Russia did by the use of the bayonet, that is, destroy initiative and private enterprise. These are some of the reasons why the better element in the South will vote against Roosevelt and his fourth term.

One of the most potent reasons why the thinking element in the South will oppose Roosevelt is that he has put the CIO in the political saddle, and that organization has issued a brochure saying "The Carpet Bagger days in the South was a normal and desired situation." This, with the other theories of Roosevelt and his wife will certainly bring bloodshed in the South, for the white race will not be subservient to the negro, which will be attempted if the present trend continues in Washington.

So on the whole Barkley is for Roosevelt because he is a New Dealer and not a Democrat—and we are against Roosevelt because we are not New Dealers but are Democrats.

TIDBITS

A CYCLE OF FENCES—II

From brush to rail to paling to wire—that has been the history of fences in many parts of Kentucky. But I realize that this cycle is not complete without mentioning some other fences that have come and gone or come and stayed. Much of central and southwest Kentucky was prairie country; hence rail fences were not universal. In the cavernous limestone area stone was and is too obviously plentiful. Therefore, when slave labor was plentiful, too, there grew up some of our most distinctive fences. Many of them were crudely built, so that mending wall, as Robert Frost calls it, had to be reported to almost every season by the owners of the fences. But others have been built to outlast man himself. I know some fences that came into existence in the early twenties of the last century and are still as good as they were a century ago. Some of them are not especially pretty, but time and vines and weather have blended the fences into the landscape. Skunks and chipmunks and other "varmints" have found homes in or under these fences for generations. In the Bluegrass, as along the Shady Lane Pike outside Lexington, the stone fences are among the beautiful things that one should see in a tour of the state. Not to have seen the Simms Farm on the Shady Lane Pike is to have missed something as distinctive as Mammoth Cave or Lincoln's home or the Old Kentucky Home. Stone fences as they were have often been wrecked under modern farm conditions. Those near cities have been torn down by the mile to make way for suburban improvements. Within a few yards of my own house a distinctive stone fence has all but disappeared since that portion of the country has become a stylish suburb. I like the neighbors who have built houses to the southwest of me, but I miss the picturesque beauty of the mile or more of stone fence that paralleled the highway to Nashville.

Also in the prairie country, where fencing material was not any too plentiful, there grew up the long lines of osage orange hedges. Again land became scarcer, and the wide strip of soil necessary to grow and support such a fence became too valuable, especially when the wire fence became popular. Still there are many hedges, giving a leisurely air to much rural life, and if there were soil enough to spare for all God's children. Just as the stone fence has often gone down because of a change in farming conditions, so the hedge fence has been pulled up by machinery or burned consistently until it died. Some of the hedges seem to be stronger than man himself and fairly thrive on such treatment. One of the most attractive fences I know of is the hedge fence reinforced by a strand or two of barbed wire. Not long ago I was forced to climb such a fence on one of my long walks and still bear with me the mark of the fence's power. As an ornithologist I must pay tribute to the hedge fence, for it forms one of the best habitats for many of our birds. Mockingbirds, Cardinals, and Brown Thrashers like to build in a hedge, and in winter all the winter sparrows take refuge in it to escape the weather and natural enemies.

Having been reared in an area where stone was scarce, I never knew until I was grown the charm of the rock fence; now, after two-thirds of my life has been lived in the limestone area, I have come to see in the stone fence a thing of beauty nearly equal to the old rail fence of tender memory, although I still cling to the feeling that a rail fence, particularly an old one, holds charms that no other type of fence can quite approach. Even our fences reflect the necessities and the artistry of us and our ancestors.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

When You Get Good
Rules, Stick to 'em

Joel Shaw came by, after a day's fishing, to make a contribution for my supper. Seemed pleased with his catch.

Not much of a fisherman myself, though I sure enjoy fish. So I got asking him how come the fishing always seemed consistently good around here.

Joel tells me it's because the fishing and hunting are regulated. Sportmen themselves, he says, fostered the regulations and got mad as hornets when somebody breaks the rules.

Now I thought that was a good idea, and I told him so. But it goes a lot further than just game and fish.

For example, the right to have a glass of beer but restricting its sale to clean, decent places.

Which is why folks approve the self-regulation job being done by the Brewing Industry Foundation.

From where I sit, it safeguards a personal right folks want to keep intact.

TIRE TUBES OFF RATION

All new tubes, passenger, truck, tractor, implement, have been removed from rationing as of July 1 by the Office of Price Administration. This action was taken with the approval of the Office of Rubber Director.

Since December, 1942, it has been necessary to obtain a certificate from the War Price and Rationing Board for the purchase of new tubes for practically all vehicles and equipment. The boards, operating within prescribed quotas, issued such certificates upon proof of need.

However, for the last two months no quotas have been placed on the issuance of these certificates, and the demand has been running at the rate of approximately a million and a half per month. Present inventories and production are adequate to meet this demand, OPA said.

This move makes it unnecessary for persons needing new tubes to apply to their local War Price and Rationing Board. It also aids in the conservation of tires, since a good tube properly inflated prolongs the life of a tire. This is particularly important at this time, during the extreme shortage of civilian tires.

If the usual rates continue there will be almost 50 accidental deaths every day on the Food for Freedom front!

The proudest title in the Army

IT CONSISTS OF two simple words.
 Yet every soldier who's worth his salt covets it.
 This title is simply:
"Good Soldier."
 It isn't just happenstance that so many women in the WAC have earned this title—the proudest in the Army.
 For wherever Wacs are working, both here and overseas, there you find a job well done. And done with a spirit so gallant and fine that high Army officers everywhere say of the WAC...
"They're soldiers. Good soldiers!"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, July 30, is "Love;" and the Golden Text is: "Let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exercise loving kindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth; for in these things I delight, saith the Lord (Jeremiah 9:24.) Among the citations are the following passages:

"And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16.)

"A misplaced word changes the sense and misstates the Science of Scriptures, as, for instance, to name Love as merely an attribute of God; but we can by special and proper capitalization speak of the love of Love, meaning by that what the beloved disciple meant in one of his epistles, when he said "God is love" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker, p. 319.)

INCOME TAXESSOAR TO NEW HIGH

Kentucky's revenue during the fiscal year just ended was $30,138,087—off, $1,000,000 from the previous period, but more than $800,000 above estimates.

The biggest drop in income was in whisky taxes, but individual income taxes soared to a new high and revenue from amusement and cigarette levies also topped the 1942-43 year.

Figures for the 1943-44 fiscal year ended June 30, subject to minor corrections, showed the following comparisons with 1942-43, the latter years totals being given first: Beer consumption taxes, $1,467,585 and $1,624,486; distilled spirits consumption $3,050,739 and $2,468,563; distilled spirits production, $1,105,654, and $12,561; corporation income, $3,708,425 and $3,351,590; individual income, $4,202,336 and $4,410,486; inheritance, $1,214,379 and $5,501,667; franchise, $1,510,205 and $1,511,529; amusements, $863,199 and $1,072,445; cigarette, $2,495,706 and $2,876,684.

While distilleries turned from whiskey making to war alcohol production with a consequent fall of revenue there, the income from licenses for sale of whiskey increased, with $468,280 collected from that source, compared to $436,336 the previous year.

Commissioner Moore explained that revenue from corporation income taxes during the calendar year of 1943 exceeded that of 1942, but differences in deferred payments caused a drop when reported on a fiscal year basis.

People who heretofore have had no interest in politics, and now taking a stand for the preservation of democracy, which far too many Americans take for granted. Many won't even go to the polls to vote, but if they should be disfranchised and could not vote at all, then they would feel the weight of oppression when it was too late. Any people can lose their freedom and liberties if they do not remain alert and aggressive to their duties as citizens.

When France, the symbol of the Republic everywhere, with the greatest army in the world, fell in six short weeks, because the citizens had taken their liberty for granted, while subversive groups worked for her fall. In our country there are groups working for the defeat of democracy, and for the usurpation of power—dictatorship. It is high time for everyone in this country who is qualified to vote, to go to the polls, work and vote to preserve our American way of life.

"We are on the threshold of the gravest period in the world's history," Miss Helen Hayes, America's first lady of the screen recently said. "Let us, in God's name not betray our heritage at home." Very well put, indeed, Miss Hayes! We all have much at stake. Let us remember the nightmare every adult in this country has suffered since 1917. Let us spare the children growing up now the experience of another war.

Awake America! We must forever remain vigilant and alert to the dangers of these foreign isms which are invading our land. Even our Capitol at Washington is filled with leaders of groups who would bring oppression to us. It is a matter of record. The only thing needed is for the great mass of people to become aware of the danger. The better way to do that is to get out the books and congressional documents and the rosters of Communist organizations and their more or less innocent subsidiaries, and learn how these groups work, while mentally lazy Americans sit peacefully by on the sidelines.

These devilish isms are penetrating every walk of life, simply because picked propagandists are diligent, while the average American does nothing to stop it. It is a serious matter, which is certain to bring untold trouble inside our own country, unless unity of action, and aggressive determination on the part of the people, are marshalled to combat such undesirable pressure groups and government. Snap out of our complacency, America; for your future is at stake! Our boys must not die in vain again.

The logical way to know what is really going on in this country, and in Washington, is to organize community study groups, to ascertain the true facts. Study the records. Learn how each man you elect votes and works when he is lifted into power by your vote. Keep this the "government of the people, by the people and for the people," or we will one day wake up to find we have the same kind of dictatorship that Americans lay down their lives to overcome; that taxpayers pay billions to fight abroad. War periods are always good times for these foreign ways to drift into our country. And the reconstruction period following the war is certain to open wider vistas for the operation of these pressure groups who would grab away from the people even more privileges and liberties which we have been accustomed to enjoy. Vigilance is the price we must pay to preserve our freedom. Never forget that.

HELLO WORLD

Congratulations Mr. and Mrs. James P. Hyland on the birth of your daughter, born Wednesday morning, July 26, 1944, at the Weakley County Hospital, at Martin, Tenn.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Mary and I were just saying, Judge, how lucky we are here in America that we have so many natural resources to help win the war."
"That's right, Jim. When war broke out we had oil, we had steel, we had food, lumber, aluminum...practically everything we needed. There's one thing we didn't have...rubber. The enemy had that."
"But that didn't bother us for long. Soon American brains and industry had synthetic rubber by the tons rolling out of plants. That filled a critical need...you can't win a war without rubber."

"I was very much interested the other day in reading a statement made by a high government official on synthetic rubber. In it he said 'It is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry.'"
"He also said that, in his estimation, the tremendous contribution of distillers' industrial alcohol to the synthetic rubber program had not received the recognition which it deserves."
"We certainly learned something today, didn't we Mary?"

Telephone Employees Doing Good Job

Telephone men and women of Fulton are among 32,000 Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company employees who will receive a special citation from the Army Signal Corps, it was learned today.

The citation, which has the same significance in the communication field that an Army-Navy "E" award has in manufacturing and production circles, will be presented on Monday night to telephone employees and to the company for "loyal and patriotic services above and beyond the call of duty." The presentation will be made by the Signal Corps at Atlanta, Ga., where the company's general offices are located, but the award encompasses the achievements of all Southern Bell people in nine states and 900 telephone exchanges, including the local exchange.

A replica of the citation will be sent to all Fulton telephone men and women so that they will have a visible symbol of the honor which the Signal Corps is according them for their "distinguished contribution" to the war program.

Colonel F. J. Magee, of Fort McPherson, Signal Officer of the Fourth Service Command, will present a certificate symbolic of the award.

and President Hal S. Dumas, of the telephone organization, will accept it on behalf of the company's 32,000 civilian employees and the 3,200 who have donned the uniform of Uncle Sam. Vice President J. G. Bradbury will preside. Several thousand telephone people, their families and friends will gather at the City Auditorium in Atlanta for the event.

A special telephone network will connect Atlanta with Louisville as well as the other state headquarters cities of Southern Bell so that large gatherings of telephone people in those cities may hear the proceedings in Atlanta. There will also be a special program at Louisville in addition to the "broadcast" from Atlanta.

The Signal Corps, in announcing the forthcoming award, praised all telephone people for the effective manner in which the essential service of telephone communications has been rendered.

The particular job for which the telephone company will be cited is that of helping the Signal Corps provide communications throughout the United States—communications which helped make it possible to supply all the instrumentalities of war waged throughout the world. The intensive phase of the job started back in 1940 when the Army pecked the South for such a large proportion of its war activity. Southern Bell, which furnishes telephone service in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee, including 400 military establishments, supplied service that helped build up, train, clothe, feed, equip and transport men. Telephone people handled the messages that helped give these men the planes, tanks, trucks and weapons they needed to overwhelm the enemy, and helped keep the entire war drive moving at top tempo.

It is in recognition of the importance of this service to the war program that the Signal Corps citation is being made.

A series of meetings has just closed at Salem Baptist Church on Saturday night, held by Rev. J. O. Coletharp, assisted by Rev. L. W. Carlin, of Paducah. Eleven professions and additions to the church with baptismal service held at Sprout's levee Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. J. O. Coletharp. The church was greatly revived due to inspiring sermons by Rev. Carlin.

Miss Pansy Stafford has returned to Los Angeles, Calif., after having spent several weeks here with her mother, Mrs. Lawrence McClain, who has been very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cunningham and children of Dresden visited parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fields. Rev. J. O. Coletharp filled his monthly appointment at Bethel Baptist Church the past Saturday and Sunday.

PALESTINE

The revival closed Sunday night with 5 additions to the church. Bro. Fiser and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Brown Sunday.

Harvey Pewitt accompanied his mother to Memphis Saturday and returned Monday. Mrs. Pewitt remained for treatment.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mobley Sunday. Those present were: Mrs. Norn Byrn, Mr. and Mrs. Byron McAllister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Backman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Randle McAllister and son, Mr. and Mrs. Duward McAllister, Mrs. Carl Hurst and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Horton of Malden, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Weatherspoon and son Dan.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brevard, Joel Brevard, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Browder, Mignon Browder, of near Union City attended church Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Browder. Mr. and Mrs. Eston Browder and Percy King were their guests also.

Mrs. Harvey Pewitt and son Mac and Jimmie Wallace spent Sunday with Mrs. Leslie Nugent on Park-av.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bard returned Monday night from a visit with their son, Glenn, stationed at Camp Blanding near Jacksonville, Fla.

James Browder returned to Lexington Monday morning after spending the week end with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Browder.

The Palestine Homemakers Club will have their annual picnic Friday evening on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Browder's home on West-st. A picnic lunch will be served by the club.

Mrs. Clyde Burnett is reported on sick list.

MEN IN SERVICE

Capt. John A. Dunn, who is a B-29 pilot, arrived in India recently, according to his aunt, Mrs. V. L. Fremantle of Fulton.

James E. Brasur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fon Brasur of Philippi, Tenn., is now in U. S. Navy, stationed at Camp Peary, Va.

Charles Arnn, Seaman 2c, is now aboard ship somewhere in the South Atlantic.

T-5 Robert H. Cullum, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cullum is in Italy.

Masert Sgt. D. A. Freeman, AAF, has returned to the U. S. A. after 15 months at Guadalcanal. He is visiting his wife in California, and his sister, Mrs. Bruce Laird, Fulton, Route 1.

Seaman 2c Glenn Williams talked to his mother here last week after being at sea for a month.

Corp. Russell L. Moore, son of Mrs. Julie P. Moore of this city, has recently been promoted to a corporal at the Infantry replacement Center at Camp Hood, Texas. He is aiding in the instruction of new men as they receive their basic training.

Lt. George T. James, Jr., has returned to Barksdale Field, La., after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George James on Second-st.

Pvt. Edgar Drysdale, U. S. Marine, now in South Pacific, recently met a school mate, Charlie Thomas, who is an Ensign in the U. S. Navy, while being transferred from one area to another. It was a grand and glorious feeling, said Edgar and Charlie, to get together and discuss the old home town.

Cpl. James R. Jolley, who is somewhere in England has been overseas since May. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jolley.

Pvt. E. C. Underwood son of Mrs. Venie B. Hall, has been transferred to Inf. RTC at Camp Blanding, Fla., for basic training.

Clyde Hill, Jr., son of Mrs. George Batts, has been promoted to first lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Corps. He is with the engineering division, stationed in France.

Capt. Gwynn Bushart of Fulton has been assigned to Camp Grant, Ill.

Sgt. John Paul McConnell has been awarded a bronze medal for meritorious action in combat. Sgt. McConnell, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell, has been in Italy for more than a year. Near Artens, Italy, May 28, Sgt. McConnell observed several wounded American soldiers. He organized a detail and removed these wounded men to the rear. Then under heavy shell and machine gun fire, led a platoon 300 yards to reinforce a weak spot in the American line.

Owen K. Elerdam, 25, husband of Ruth Ann Elerdam, 400 West-st, Fulton, Ky., is receiving his initial naval indoctrination at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

His "boot" training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill, and general naval procedure. During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruit to determine whether he will be assigned to a Naval Service School or to immediate active duty at sea.

His recruit training completed, the seaman will spend a period of leave at home.

Nurse Tells Of Own Relief By Retonga

"I Feel Better Than In Ten Years," Declares Mrs. Hart. Thinks Others Should Know About Retonga.

MRS. VESTA HART

Prominent among the hundreds of grateful men and women who have endorsed Retonga are many professional nurses. For instance Mrs. Vesta Hart, well known graduate nurse residing at 1784 Delaware Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga., happily states:

"In fifteen years of nursing I have never used a medicine which brought me such prompt and splendid relief as Retonga. For about three years I suffered severely from poor digestion, gas pains in my stomach, nervousness and sluggish elimination. My nerves were very easily upset, my sleep did not seem to refresh me, and I had to rely very much on laxatives for poor elimination.

"Retonga is the first medicine I found to give me satisfactory relief. The sluggish elimination is relieved and my nerves are not easily upset. I have a splendid appetite, everything I eat seems to agree with me. I feel better than in ten years. I think others should know about such a meritorious preparation, and I can hardly praise Retonga enough."

Such sincere praise speaks for itself. Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to Vitamin B-1 flow of digestive juices in the deficiency, constipation, insufficient stomach, and loss of appetite. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Store.

EVERY WOODLOT A BATTLEFIELD

ONE of the crucial battles of the war is being fought right here at home—the battle of pulpwood production. Unless we win our battle here, our boys can't win over there.

Get In The Fight!

Pulpwood is needed for hundreds of war uses. The demand has increased tremendously and the supply gone down for lack of manpower in the woods. There is only one place Uncle Sam can look for more pulpwood now—the farm woodlot. Here is your chance to have a real part in winning the war; cut all the pulpwood you can.

This is the PEELING SEASON

Another reason for cutting all the pulpwood you can now is that this is the season when wood can be peeled. It will pay you to peel your wood because peeled wood brings a better price, is easier to handle and lighter to haul.

When Actions Speak Louder Than Words

The patriotic manner in which telephone men and women have carried on since Pearl Harbor speaks louder than words. When war started telephone workers were already in the midst of the greatest construction program ever undertaken. As war progressed their job grew more complicated. However, every war telephone service demand was met on or ahead of schedule, though it meant working long extra hours day after day.

While doing this tremendous war job, the urgent telephone needs of the public were not forgotten. There are today more than 500,000 more telephones in service in the Southern Bell territory than in 1940, and service is being maintained in spite of the fact that nearly one-third of our male employees are in the armed forces. Telephone operators are now completing more than 450,000 more calls each month than in the summer months of 1940.

Accepting their responsibilities as citizens, telephone folks have purchased millions of dollars of War Bonds and are continuing to invest more than ten per cent of their regular wages every month in bonds. You will find them doing Red Cross work—nurses' aid work—donating their blood—in fact you'll find telephone folks in nearly every civic movement designed to aid in our war effort and the betterment of the communities in which they live.

Telephone workers have accepted their wartime responsibilities, appreciating the vital part they have in the successful prosecution of the war—shouldering their tasks cheerfully and unselfishly as the men in arms shoulder their guns.

"HOME SWEET HOME" SCENE OF TOO MANY ACCIDENTS

Home, which should be the safest and happiest place in the world is the scene of more accidents than highways, industry or any other place, says Miss Lillian Keller, Extension home management specialist for the U-T College of Agriculture.

In American homes, more healthy, useful people have been needlessly killed than have been killed in battle since Pearl Harbor. More people were killed in accidents during 1943 than during the entire period of the first World War. Accidents don't just happen. They are caused usually by carelessness, haste, nervousness and fatigue. Miss Keller points out:

"Tennessee homemakers can prevent loss of lives, waste of manpower and womanpower and unnecessary medical expense by making their homes safer for family living. Every accident is expensive! Can you afford one? It is not only sensible but cheaper to prevent accidents by checking the entire house for safety during National Safety Week, July 23-29. After checking be sure to eliminate all accident hazards. See how many of the following questions you can answer with YES. If you cannot answer "Yes" to all of them, try to do something about each one answered with NO."

1. Are the porch steps in good repair?
2. Do you have a step ladder in in good repair?
3. Do all stairs have at least one strong hand rail?
4. Do you have a screen for your fireplace?
5. Are you careful not to throw down lighted matches?
6. Is furniture placed to avoid painful collisions in the dark?
7. Do you keep floors and stairs clear of toys, skates and other articles which may cause falls.
8. Are your attic and basement free of newspapers, oily rags and accumulated trash?
9. Is the yard free of broken glass, boards with nails sticking up, garden tools, and other dangerous articles?
10. Are poisons and medicines carefully labeled before storing and matches, razor blades and scissors kept out of reach of children?

Farmers Urged To Seed Grains For Fall, Winter Feed

Farmers whose feed supply was reduced by drouth are being urged by the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics to "sow every possible acre in small grain in early fall or even late summer."

Rye and barley can be sowed in August and wheat in early September, to furnish grazing in October and November. If the winter is mild they will provide feed all winter. Where possible to obtain seed, it is suggested that balbo rye be sown.

In some instances it still may be time to sow sudan grass, which furnishes a large amount of grazing in a favorable season.

The college again is stressing the value of alfalfa. The first cutting of alfalfa is nearly always good, and in an emergency alfalfa can be used for pasture in summer. Alfalfa sown in August, along with a few pounds of timothy or other grass seed, will make a crop of high quality hay the next year.

Where full seedings of alfalfa can't be made, it is suggested that 5 or 6 pounds of alfalfa seed and 6 to 8 pounds of timothy seed be used to the acre. Timothy sown in August will make a crop the following year, particularly if nitrogen fertilizers are used in the spring.

In seeding small grain, the college is recommending that phosphate fertilizer be used on all but high-phosphate land, and it may even be profitable to add 100 to 150 pounds of ammonium nitrate to the acre on land of only moderate fertility. It is stated. If the land is moderately fertile, it is better to delay the use of nitrate until early spring, so as to provide more spring pasture.

STEAM PRESSURE COOKER CLINIC

Catherine Thompson, county home Demonstration Agent, will hold 3 day steam pressure cooker clinics in the county beginning Tuesday, August 1 at Hickman at her office in the basement of the Postoffice, Wednesday, August 2 at her home two miles out of Fulton on the Middle Road, and Thursday, August 3 at Cayce school.

Anyone who desires to have their steam pressure cooker gauge tested or cooker checked in any way may bring them to any of these places between 9:30 and 4:00.

If possible the gauge should be loosened by a man before bringing it.

Of the 10,100,000 persons injured in the United States last year, 350,000 cases involved some permanent disability, according to the National Safety Council.

More than 32,000 persons were killed in homes last year, according to the National Safety Council.

The lives of 6,000 Americans could have been saved in 1943 had the nations' traffic death rate been as low as that of Utah, Connecticut, Oklahoma and Minnesota, states which won top honors in the National Safety Council's Traffic Safety Contest.

BUD ABBOTT . . . Director and Conductor of WHAS midnight run, is known to listeners in every state, province, in Canada, the Caribbean area and on ships at sea as the man behind the mike when "Kentucky Calls America." From his ardent audience Bud counts fan letters by the thousands while other folks count sheep . . . and features reading fifty of them each night between request recordings.

As America awakened to the needs of war, night-shifters and up-late G.I.'s dialed WHAS to catch hourly government newscasts. Proof of Bud's popularity is the eating of it. Says he, "I live on the fan of the land." Between mouthfuls of cake, fudge, fried chicken, lemon meringue and orange cream pie, his colleagues agree. Two taxi drivers, hearing their nocturnal announcer express need of black coffee to keep awake, rushed in with steaming beakers. A farm listener in Pennsylvania sent fifty day-old chicks when Bud "aired" his ambition to become a gentleman farmer.

Female fans yearn to know Bud better . . . many write him nightly, beg for photographs, autographs, dates and personal mention on the air. If they could see their dream talking, they'd find he has deep brown eyes, hair and mustache to match. He's young, unmarried and talks with a Southern accent that came all the way from New Hampshire.

Notice To Our Laundry And Dry Cleaning Customers

We are sorry to make this statement to our customers, but conditions beyond our control have caused it.

We wish to state that on Monday, July 24th, 1944, we will not pickup any more dry cleaning or washing, there will be no delivery service in the residential sections of Fulton or our territory.

FIRST—The shortage of the labor situation has been so acute that we can not take care of our work the way we want to, therefore we can only handle the CASH and CARRY SYSTEM.

SECOND—The truck situation is now staring us in the face—Tires, Trucks and Gasoline.
 When a truck gives out now you cannot get a new one.

THIRD—We will continue to do the same first-class work that we have done in the past.

FOURTH—As soon as the labor situation is cleared up we will start our trucks back on their routes. We will handle your laundry and dry cleaning the same but only by the CASH and CARRY SYSTEM.

Generally Speaking

By NADINE HARKINS
 McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

GENERALLY speaking, this is a daffy war. I mean like Joe O'Brien, for instance. Back in the States he always groused about the British and poked fun at the lace curtains in Buckingham Palace and the changing of the guard and so forth. Then he joins up and where does the Army send him but straight across the big drink smack into the heart of London.

And in nothing flat Joe's a one-man Chamber of Commerce for the island, a booster-for-Britain de luxe.
 He gets to attend Queen Mary on a personal tour and winds up thinking he's the Prince Consort. Now Joe writes he's marrying the sweetest girl in the world, a little English schoolteacher. I suppose when these shooting galleries empty and we all go home Joe'll be wearing a monocle and calling his pals old boys, old sock, old top.

Yeah, daffy war. Take me, for instance. Generally speaking, I'm no dope. I mean a guy's gotta have a little gray matter to get to be a corporal, don't he? So maybe I don't warm up to Atta like Joe does to England. I still don't make no bones about it much, even if it ain't no hot-air furnace. I just want to be a good soldier, wash out these Nippies and get home to Barbara.

I am thinking of Barbara that night in the ice-cold foxhole with the stars big as kites and the night so still. She sure is a sweet kid and the best jitterbug in the gang. Generally speaking, I'm not the complaining type, but we've been crouched here too long to suit me, trying to outsmart a Jap trap on the side of the snowy slope below us. Thinking of Barbara sort of warms me up, and when I get warmed up, I get mad. I mean I keep thinking about Barbara and the gang and the good times we had down at the roller-skating rink or the dance palace or Jake's Spa with the juke box meaning a hot

Was there ever such a toboggan ride?

live, and I think how a fellow would want a peach like Barbiee and maybe she'll get tired of waiting for me, so I yank out her snapshot, and the one in the bathing suit, and it sort of reassures me. But I kind of shiver for Barbiee and get madder still, because we can't rout out those yellow babies down below us. They're holding up the whole works.

I grunt, disgusted. "Fine war," I gripe, "when we can't shoot out a nest of yellow baboons. I'm getting sick of this place, anyway. I don't like the air conditioning. I'd much prefer being a general. Makes me I'm to think of General Farwell over at the base. Why, they say that bird has a superspecial trailer to live in, and he doesn't have to park in no slimy foxhole, neither.
 That trailer is bombproof and has running water."

"What, Simpsie?" quips the kid next to me again. "No mean lights?"
 The fellows all laugh, especially this quiet guy in the corner who roars fit to kill. But I'm still burning, so I think of Barbiee again and how we used to go sledding with the gang down hills just like this one and the idea hits me smack in the cranium.

"Come on, wise guy," I yell to my buddy, all excited-like. "Tear down that canvas shelter half."

The little quiet guy comes over then. "What are you men planning?"

"Get back to barracks," I fling at him, spreading the canvas on the snow and sitting on it. The little guy starts to sputter but my buddy catches on quick and gives me a go. I swift push.

"Thanks, Barbiee, b'd on tight, here we go to glory or the gravel."
 Was there ever such a toboggan ride with the feel of the hand grenade hard and sure, my heart pounding against my ribs and my mind clicking like a time bomb?
 Merrily down the slope I travel, very fast and very close to the Japs' holes. Going by, I toss the grenade for a perfect basket right in the monkeys' startled faces.

Yeah, daffy war. Because next day I have a date in that air-conditioned trailer over at the base.
 Seems the quiet guy in the corner was Major General Farwell and he wanted to do a little coasting himself that night. He's a swell egg, and my promotion is first-rate and the shiny medal a little bit of O. K., too. Barbiee will like that and, generally speaking, I never thought I'd wind up speaking to the general.

U. S. Ready To Retain Powerful Air Force

Washington—The Army and Navy asked Congress Wednesday to maintain a formidable postwar air force backed with mammoth aircraft production plants ready for any emergency.

Undersecretary of War Robert
 P. Patterson and Artemus L. Gates, Navy assistant secretary, voiced the armed services' views before a Senate military subcommittee, Gates said.

"The United States should maintain an air power sufficient not only to win this war but also to keep the peace."

He and Patterson also proposed a broad expansion of civilian aviation, when the war is won.

Retain Bomber Plants

Patterson said the government should retain title to its eight huge bomber plants, with lease arrangements with private enterprise wherever possible. As to the national policy for the maintenance of air power, Gates told the committee that the Navy, while plugging for a large peacetime sea force, indorses the resolution of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, declaring that America should keep in fighting trim "air power strong enough to keep the peace."

He quoted from the resolution on specific means of accomplishing this end.

1. By maintaining adequate air forces in such strength and in such state of readiness as to preclude a successful assault on our country or its possessions.

2. By acquiring and maintaining air bases essential to our security and that of overseas trade.

3. By facilitating the orderly economic expansion of domestic and international air transport and of private flying.

4. By preserving a strong aircraft manufacturing industry.

KATTY KITTY Says

'Darling! How thrifty! You pressed it yourself!'

Just because Alice is no expert at pressing garments is no reason why Kitty should make fun of her. It's smart to be thrifty.

However, pressing your own clothes is definitely not thrifty.
 Unless you have the proper equipment and an expert knowledge of the clothes pressing art, it's possible to press the style right out of garments. Tomorrow, get thrifty by sending your clothes to us and letting us press new smartness into them.

• Silo Simpkins Says

Weeding is as important in the livestock lot as in the garden plot. The most efficient pasture harvesting machinery known is the cow.

Cultivate cotton and corn only often enough and deep enough to keep weeds under control.

We've yet to hear of someone who wore out his tires or ran out of gas coupons going to the garden for groceries.

An acre of early seeded oats or barley will provide as much feed through pasturage as 500 pounds of oil and seed meal.

Compared with 1937, the number of cattle on U. S. farms last January 1 had increased 25 percent while acreage devoted to pasture, hay and other non cultivated crops had decreased 8 percent.

When pastures fail, feed cows dry feed if necessary to keep up the milk flow. Once they fail in their milk, it is difficult to get them back on top production during that lactation.

Have a Coca-Cola = Viva! (YEAH MAN!)

...or being the good neighbor in Brazil

Your American's good-natured invitation Have a "Coke" is a good-neighbor policy in three short words. It marks that brand of friendliness which our fighting men carry with them everywhere among our Allies. In many lands from Alaska to South Africa, Coca-Cola is spreading the custom of the pause that refreshes—that refreshing moment devoted to just being friendly. Enjoy it at home, too, with frosty Coca-Cola from your own refrigerator.
